ABOUT US

The Surgical Palliative Care Society (SPCS) is an innovative interdisciplinary professional society dedicated to integrating high-quality palliative medicine principles and practices into the care of surgical patients through mentorship, education, research, quality improvement and advocacy.

SPCS promotes a holistic vision of surgical practice that focuses on the well-being of the professional healthcare team, patients, families and caregivers by touching all that hurts in surgical dis-ease.

The MISSION of the Society is to advance the field of Surgical Palliative Care by supporting the personal and professional development of all healthcare providers caring for surgical patients through mentorship, education and training, research and advocacy - all delivered in a collegial and inclusive environment.
